

CHIEF WOOD'S ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS 496 ARRESTS IN 1919

This Is 40 More Than 1918, but 227 Were for Traffic Violations Against 104 in 1918—27 Less Drunks Arrested—Interesting Report of Police Work in Kingston.

The annual report for 1919 of Chief of Police J. Allan Wood submitted at the regular monthly meeting of the board of police commissioners Friday evening at the city hall contains many interesting facts and figures, and shows the work accomplished by the city police department during the past year. There were 496 arrests made in 1919, which was 40 more than 1918, but 227 arrests were for traffic violations against 104 in 1918, but 27 less drunks arrested.

The "dry wave" swept over the country in July of last year, and a glance at the report shows that in 1918 there were 92 arrests made for public intoxication, while this year there were but 65 arrests, or a falling off of 27 in the number of drunks arrested.

Chief Wood's report to the police board follows:

I herewith respectfully submit the twenty-seventh annual report of the police department for the year ending December 31st, 1919. This is the twelfth annual report rendered by me as chief of police of the city of Kingston.

The members of the force have performed their respective duties, during the year, in the usual efficient manner and the discipline of the department as a whole was up to the standard. The year was a busy one full of minor incidents all which received prompt attention with satisfactory results.

Arrests
The number of arrests for the year were 496, 227 of these were for violation of laws in relation to the automobile. While this is the largest number of arrests we have ever made in any one year in connection with vehicular traffic, the increased number of vehicles on our public streets and the careless speed which many of them drive made it necessary to take strenuous action to make the streets safer for other traffic and persons using them.

Police Fund
The money raised for police purposes for the year 1919 were ample and I am pleased to report a balance on hand at the close of the year's work.

Tax Levy for the Year
1919 ..... $39,844.74
Amount of Balance January 1st, 1919 ..... 2,611.56

Amount available for year 1919 ..... $42,456.30
Disbursements, including salaries, garage, telephone, equipment, stationery, light and heat, transportation of prisoners, repairs to buildings, contracts and other disbursements for the year ..... $37,792.19

For salaries and disbursements for the month of December, 1919 ..... 1,476.63

Outstanding bills December 31st, 1919 ..... 960.00
Balance January 1st, 1920 ..... $ 3,226.12

Motor Equipment
There has been no change in the motor equipment of the department during the year. It consists of an ambulance, touring car and one motor cycle. All are in fair condition and in service.

Ulster County Savings Bank ..... 4,078.99
Less outstanding warrants dated December 31st, 1919 ..... 225.05
Balance ..... $15,956.18

Recommendations.
The police signal system has given good service during the year and with the exception of grounds which give more or less trouble in wet weather is in good condition. These grounds are caused by trees the limbs of which sometime completely surround the wire. There is considerable trimming to be done to clear the police wires and as it getting worse each year, I recommend that the work be done as early in the spring as possible.

Pool and billiard parlors need some regulating in the city and an ordinance for this purpose is recommended.

General Information.
The department collected during the year, $220.00 for junk license; $760.00 for sundry license, and $23.00 for ambulance calls. Found 872 and 122 incandescent lights out. Gave lodging to 1,245 persons who applied for same at police headquarters. Received over the police system 66,430 police calls. Served 78 warrants of arrest besides numerous summonses of which no record is kept.

In conclusion I desire to convey to your honorable body my appreciation for your uniform support and assistance rendered me during the past year.

I also desire to express my appreciation to the various city departments for their usual courtesy and assistance.

Annexed hereto will be found statistics in detail of the work performed by the department during the year. Respectfully submitted,

J. ALLAN WOOD,
Chief of Police.

COUNTY MEETING HERE THURSDAY

Mrs. Bridgen and Judge Clearwater And Others to Help Open Home Bureau Drive for 1,000 Members.
The membership campaign for the Ulster County Home Bureau for 1,000 members will open January 22 at 10:30 a. m. with a big county-wide meeting in Wiltwyck Inn Hall, Main street, Kingston. An especially interesting and attractive program has been arranged. Mrs. A. E. Bridgen of Marlathon, Cortland county, and the Hon. Alphonso T. Clearwater of Kingston will be the main speakers of the day. Mrs. Bridgen, who is sought by every Home Bureau to speak at county-wide meetings, is already known to some here as one of the most interesting and forceful speakers with a real message that ever visited Ulster county. Mrs. Bridgen is president of the New York State Federation of Home Bureaus and chairman of the Home Bureau executive committee of Cortland county.

The Hon. A. T. Clearwater is known to nearly all as a most entertaining and interesting speaker and the Honorary president of the Farm Bureau. Although a very busy man he has—because of his interest and firm belief of the Home Bureau—accepted the invitation to address its county-wide meeting.

Among the other speakers on the program for the day are several prominent men and women of the county. Chester Young, president of the Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau Association, Mrs. Edward Young of Milton, and Mrs. Elmer Smith of Allgerville are to be among those on the program that day.

The program of this meeting will also include music, which, of course, will make the occasion an even more enjoyable one.

Arrangements have been made so that all who attend this county-wide meeting may plan to lunch together at Wiltwyck Inn. Miss Kenney has offered a very attractive and appetizing menu and the cost per place will be 75 cents. Reservations may now be made at the Home Bureau office.

Immediately after the luncheon there will be a community roll call at which time reports will be given by various community chairmen and the community having the largest attendance will be given some special sort of recognition. As each community is called everyone from there will be asked to stand up so that its representation may be known.

NOT A DRUNK TO MARK HIS DEMISE
Wake of Old John Barleycorn Not Attended by Any Arrests in Kingston on Charge of Public Intoxication—Only One Arrest So Far This Year.

Old John Barleycorn died—officially at least—at midnight Friday when the eighteenth amendment to the constitution went into effect, and while there may have been mourners at his wake the police did not find any so filled to the brim with his spirit that an arrest was necessary. As a result the docket in police headquarters was spotless this morning, and there were no cases in police court.

Since the dry wave swept over the country last July there has been a noticeable dropping off in the number of arrests in Kingston on a charge of public intoxication. So far this year but one arrest for any offense has been made. The only arrest on the docket book this year occurred on January 1, and the charge was public intoxication. The victim at that time claimed it was hard cider that had "got him that way."

BUFORD REACHES FINNISH PORT
By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Jan. 17.—The United States transport Buford—the "soviet ark"—with 219 deported Russians on board, has arrived at Hangow, on the southern Finnish coast, said a Helsinki dispatch to the Daily Express today.

The Buford was escorted by a United States destroyer. The dispatch said that she would depart immediately for another port under Finnish escort.

The Finnish government has requested the Russian soviet government, through the new Estonian government, for a cessation of hostilities while the deported Russians on the Buford are being taken across the frontier into soviet Russia.

DEWITT'S NAME AGAIN IN SENATE

For Confirmation as Kingston Postmaster—Third Time President Wilson Has Nominated Him—Favorable Action Expected Soon.
Postmaster William C. DeWitt received word this morning that the president had sent his name to the senate for confirmation as postmaster of Kingston. This is the third time President Wilson has honored Mr. DeWitt, who stands highest on the list of eligibles for the position, having passed successfully the examination of April, 1918.

Senator Calder and Congressman Ward, both of whom had inquired as to Mr. DeWitt's record as postmaster and found it satisfactory before the final adjournment of the last senate, March 3, 1919, omitted to have it confirmed when the president presented it again in July, 1919. The extra session adjourned November 18, last, without confirmation of Postmaster DeWitt, though many other postmasters from different parts of the country were confirmed.

It is now expected that Mr. DeWitt will be confirmed without delay as he is clearly entitled to the position which he has filled with satisfaction to all since the death of Postmaster Deyo. Partisanship should not enter into the matter at all as Postmaster DeWitt has conducted the office under the rules and regulations of the department, making all promotions of supervisory officials, clerks and carriers without regard to political affiliations.

ORDERS RIVER BRIDGE REMOVED

Central New England Railroad Serves Notice on Chamber of Commerce to Remove Horse Bridge at Rhinecliff by Noon Today—Trying to Make Other Arrangements.
With the stopping of the ferry transport for the season due to the heavy ice in the Hudson river, local merchants were forced to deliver goods over the river by sleighs. It was impossible, however, for the sleighs to land on the other side of the river as the banks were too steep and no bridge had been placed in position large enough to accommodate teams and loads.

The local Chamber of Commerce appointed Mr. Treadwell, of Everett & Treadwell, a committee of one to make arrangements to have a suitable bridge built. Mr. Treadwell secured the co-operation of the other large wholesale dealers and winter's express and others who found it necessary to cross the river.

This bridge was placed in position on the river several days ago, and proved a boon to local merchants. Friday the Central New England Railroad Company served notice on the Chamber of Commerce to remove the bridge by noon today unless the city of Kingston was willing to station a flagman there and assume all responsibility.

Mr. Treadwell immediately got busy in an effort to have the railroad rescind the notice. He got in touch with Mayor Canfield in New York city, and the mayor today is trying to make arrangements with the railroad to leave the bridge in its present position, which is the most suitable one on the other side.

Teams and vehicles using the bridge in its present position have to first cross the New York Central tracks before reaching the Central New England tracks.

If unable to make arrangements to leave the bridge where it now is it will be likely moved down to the dock of the Saugerties & New York Steamboat Company. This dock is high and would not be as convenient as the present bridge location.

Every merchant who sends merchandise across the river is interested in the proposition.

Election of Church Officers.
The annual business meeting and election of officers of the Wurtz Street Baptist Church was held on Thursday evening. Reports were read showing the various church organizations to be in excellent condition. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand at the commencement of the new year. The following officers were elected: Deacons, N. S. Eldridge, James Tongue and William H. Van Valkenburgh; evangelists, Mrs. Mary McEntee and Mrs. Sarah Van Buren; members of the pastoral committee, A. N. Barnes, Joel Alton, W. W. Schultz, Jr., Emory E. Gray, W. W. Schultz, Jr., chief usher, Chris R. Lang; church clerk, F. S. Tongue.

Pictorial of Peter.
Dr. Cady will show fifty more pictures of ancient Peter at the temperance service tomorrow at 8 p. m. There will be a further exposition of the valley in which the city stood and an account of the mountains on which ancient places of worship are still to be seen with altars and pillars. The worship commanded by the prophets of Israel is represented here. The slides are colored true to the genuine rainbow tone of the ruins and rocks. The service closes at 8 p. m.

ARETAS LODGE HOLDS ROLL CALL

Aretas Lodge, No. 172, I. O. O. F., held its annual roll call in its rooms, No. 36 East Strand, on Wednesday evening, January 14, and a very pleasant time was had by all members and their friends. District Deputy Grand Master Vedder of Saugerties was present with his staff, also members from various other lodges in this district. After the regular business session a committee, composed of Harry F. Gerhardt, William A. Van Valkenburgh and William Berryann, took charge of the meeting, and Brother Gerhardt, acting as chairman, read a list of thirty-four members who had died during the past nine years after which Brother Charles W. Deyo offered a very earnest and heartfelt prayer for the departed brothers.

The roll call was then taken up and every member present answering his name made a few remarks as to his length of membership in the order, and other reminiscences. Five of the members responding have held membership in Aretas Lodge for 50 years and it is the intention of the lodge to present these members with a 50 year jewel on the anniversary of the institution of the lodge which occurred on October 31, 1852. After the members had answered to their names, 36 letters were read from members in various cities throughout the country.

An elaborate banquet was served following the roll call, during which Samuel Tinnie entertained the members with some Scotch songs and dances, which were well received by the members and their guests. Fred Van Deusen had them all guessing as to where he got all the missing articles which he found among the members and his sleight of hand tricks were very amusing, especially to the older members. Brother John H. Berger, who has served as treasurer of the lodge for the past fifteen years, was presented with a fine gold mounted French briar pipe by the members of the degree team of which he is captain. Brother Berger thanked the brothers for their remembrance of him and assured them that he would work just as earnestly in the future as he has in the past for the benefit of the lodge and its members.

District Deputy Vedder was called upon and gave a history of the work he has accomplished since becoming deputy, also of his travels and experiences throughout the country in installing the officers of the various lodges and their respective official duties. Past District Deputies Dr. Henry Behrens, Harry Bushnell and David H. Bush made interesting addresses which were attentively listened to. Dr. Broberg, Brothers Port, Harris, Young and Deputy Grand Warden Bro. Harry Hill of Saugerties also made addresses.

The committee was given a vote of thanks for the able manner in which they had made all arrangements and the attention they gave to the wants of all present. It was declared by many that the meeting was one of the best held in Odd Fellow circles in the past few years and many expressed the wish that they would be privileged to attend many more such annual roll calls. The present officers of the lodge are as follows: Noble grand, Harry D. Streeter; vice grand, James Cramer; recording secretary, Harry F. Gerhardt; treasurer, John H. Berger (for his 16th year); financial secretary, David H. Bush; warden, Charles W. Deyo; conductor, Alfred Slater; outside guard, Peter Greaser; inside guard, William Berryann; right supporter noble grand, Edward Yost; left supporter noble grand, Allen Galt; right supporter vice grand, William A. Van Valkenburgh; right scribe supporter, Charles A. Johnston; left scribe supporter, Fred A. Gerhardt; chairman, C. Fred Keeler; trustee, William Berryann. The present membership of the lodge is 131.

WHY TAXICABS NEED REGULATING

The common council of 1919 retired from office without adopting an ordinance regulating taxi fares in Kingston. That such an ordinance is needed is proved by the following: A woman who resides on Spring street was called to New York city, and returned home on the West Shore train arriving here about 5 o'clock. In a hurry to get home she sought a taxicab, and the chauffeur refused to convey her from the West Shore station to Spring street unless she paid a fare of $2. It is tactics such as this that have caused indignation throughout the city and the common council when it meets next month should immediately adopt an ordinance regulating fares. A charge of $2 from the West Shore station to Spring street is plain out and out robbery.

ODDS AND ENDS.
The Allen Boys of Holy Cross Church will meet for instruction at 8:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Guild room of the parish house.

The executive committee of the native white company in Holy Cross parish will hold its weekly meeting Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be presided by one of the various committees in the parish house at 8 o'clock.

PAUL DESCHANEL IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF FRENCH REPUBLIC

After Clemenceau Had Withdrawn Rather Than Fight Opposition--Were Old Political Enemies and Once Fought Duel.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, Jan. 17.—Paul Deschanel, veteran president of the chamber of deputies and political enemy of Premier Clemenceau, was elected president of the French republic today, succeeding Raymond Poincare. M. Clemenceau had withdrawn his candidacy when it became apparent that factions of the radical and conservative parties were determined to oppose him and support M. Deschanel.

Paul Eugene Louis Deschanel is in his 64th year and has been in public life for 40 years. He was elected vice president of the chamber of deputies in 1896 and two years later was made president. He held the post for four years, but relinquished it for another post. He was again chosen president of the chamber in 1912 and held the office up to the time of his election to the presidency. He has written a number of books on political economy. M. Deschanel and Clemenceau have been at odds over political matters for many years. It was just revealed a few days before the election that they had fought a duel in 1894 over a newspaper attack made by Clemenceau following an incident in the chamber of deputies. M. Deschanel was slightly wounded. The French president is elected for a term of seven years. It is a national tradition that he does not succeed himself.

POSTMASTERS MET SNOW STORM HAS FOR ORGANIZATION STOPPED HARVEST

The postmasters of Ulster county met this afternoon at the court house for the purpose of organizing a county unit of the National League of Postmasters. Postmaster William C. DeWitt of Kingston stated his belief in co-operative effort and gave interesting information on the work being done by the postal service as follows:

Last month I was much pleased at an invitation from Postmaster Cutler to join the New York State League of National League of Postmasters of the United States. As you are aware I like leagues of all kinds. Brotherhood, good fellowship and team work, united and united organization, appeal to me. Therefore it was indeed a pleasure to learn that your league had amended its by-laws admitting postmasters of all classes, and I joined. Our relations since I have occupied the postmastership of Kingston through two and a half strenuous years have been intimate, friendly and beneficial, I trust. During two years of this period I have been your Central Accounting postmaster and we have grown closer and met in person much more frequently.

The growth of the Postal Service has kept pace with that of our beloved country. According to the postmaster general's annual report for our great president, the total postal revenues from all sources for the year ending June 30, 1919, exceeded $436,000,000. The postal savings have reached $136,000,000. Over $1,100,000,000 in money orders were issued. Number of letters of the first class, 2,529 of the second, 7,621 of the third and more than 42,000 fourth class offices. The Rural Free Delivery system has been extended so as to serve 6,300,000 families by 43,000 carriers. The parcel post mail matter has greatly increased, also volume of all mail handled has been the largest in history. The Air Mail Service has proved a success, eight planes flying daily an aggregate of 1,900 miles, carrying at the rate of 30,000,000 letters per annum. We are living in a wonderful time, fellow postmasters, there is no telling what may transpire next. Many advancements and improvements in the service have been made and the post office department got in closer touch with its patrons, the public, the banks, newspapers, manufacturers, chamber of commerce and trade organizations, and the postmasters, and remains so today, than at any time in its history. Remedial action was taken wherever possible whenever just complaint was found, the department inviting honest criticism and suggestion, as do all wide awake postmasters. War work, War Savings, Thrift, stamps, and Liberty Bond activities were continued by the department, postmasters and employees, in 1919, loyally and patriotically and well.

It is an important part of our duties to keep informed and study carefully all reports, bulletins, postal guides, rules and regulations issued by the department. Be sure to place all placards and notices to the public authorized by the department in conspicuous places so patrons may become well informed on postal matters. Continue your Thrift Citizens Movement, upon which you are entitled to special commendation for earnest and hardworking support and good example set. Do your utmost to persuade your patrons to keep their government securities of all kinds until maturity. Urge all to save as against times less fortunate than the present. Fight the spirit of social unrest and sedition. Continue recruiting for the army and navy whenever requested by the proper authorities. Make your reports promptly, take pride in keeping everything up-to-date, make the post office inspectors find a pleasure both to him and to you. I will assist and instruct you in every way possible, will receive you personally whenever you call at the central accounting office, will, with my assistants, solve any knotty problem you may be "up against." Thus, all working in harmony, maintaining, co-operation and with tact and courtesy to the public always, we will reflect credit upon our chiefs in the ## Ice Men Unable to Work Today—Men Busy Scraping Fields—Using New Cutting Machine—1,200 Men Employed with Payroll of $5,000 Daily.

The snow storm that broke over the city Friday night, and continued falling until about 10 o'clock this morning put a stop to the work of ice harvesting on the Hudson river. A gang of men was put to work early this morning scraping the ice fields so as to have them ready to resume cutting Monday morning.

With the ice harvest in full swing it is estimated that fully 1,200 men are employed by the various concerns storing ice, and that the average daily payroll is at least $5,000. Friday the Knickerbocker Ice Company received an ice cutting machine from Gifford & Wood of Hudson, which they tried out on the ice fields off Esopus that day. This machine will cut ice to the depth of from 4 to 8 inches in one cut at the rate of 100 yards in 30 seconds. Superintendent Fred J. Baker stated today that he believed the machine would prove a success. The machine is driven by a gasoline motor and requires services of but one man to run it. If such a machine is universally adopted, it will do away with the services of horses and boys in the ice fields.

The Kingston Point house of the Knickerbocker Ice Company is now filled and also Rondout creek today. Superintendent Baker said today that he would remove the Kingston Point gang to Esopus Monday to help fill the house there if weather conditions permitted. It was expected to start the East Kingston house, but on account of the storm it was decided to leave the house at that point so until Esopus was filled.

is at this writing improving.

private sanatorium on Wednesday for an operation.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hudson River Fruit
Exchange was held at Woolsey's Hall,
Saturday, January 10, at 2 o'clock.
R. M. Rowd of Milton was elected chairman and W. P. Garmann of Middle Hope, secretary; W. Y. Velle, president of the Exchange gave a concise summary of transactions of the Exchange for the past twelve months, showing most favorable and gratifying results, which reflected the wisdom of practical business men, to whom the affairs of the company had been delegated. The treasurer, Ralph Crowell, submitted his report for the past year, which also gave evidence of financial strength, enlarged resources and a volume of business for the year of approximately one million dollars. The next order of business was the election of two directors whose terms of office had expired. The following were nominated to fill said vacancies: Wilbur Haviland, W. Y.
Velle, F. W. Woolsey and F. W. Vail.
W. Y. Velle declined in favor of Wilbur Haviland and F. W. Woolsey declined in favor of F. W. Vail, whose nomination was made unanimous.
Some changes were made in the constitution and by laws as suggested by Messrs. Rusk, Palmer and Tuckerman. A vote of thanks and appreciation was extended to the retiring president, Mr. Velle, for his valuable and faithful services. The meeting was the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of this splendid organization. The new year is entered with favorable indications and promising results.

Early Friday evening last smoke was discovered in one of the coolers of A. B. Clarke & Son's. The fire was found to be in the floor, which was packed with sawdust. On account of this room being filled to the ceiling with crates of apples it was difficult to locate and reach the fire. With hard and persistent work by Clarke & Son's men fire did not neighbors, the fire was extinguished with but trifling loss. The fruit was damaged mostly by the smoke. The Milton fire company answered the call splendidly.

CORTO

-the Radiator Classic

DESIGNED by Louis Courtot. For more than 200 years his people of the Jura, France, have lived in a world of charm, creating and producing artistic things. With inborn talent, this family of artisans in metal seek ever to refine the common articles of the household with graceful forms or surfaces which enrich them with the genius of art.

Wherever elegance of proportion and refined lines are demanded to fit architecturally-chaste surroundings, this radiator classic, the CORTO, lends unusual distinction.

30% less space. 25% less weight

To those with whom utility is paramount, it need only be said that the CORTO, with its light, graceful tubes occupies 30% less floor space than any other type of radiator. The refinements reduce the weight one-quarter. There is far quicker circulation and venting. Utmost comfort is the result.

Our service obligation

We wish to give assurance that this new product will be attended by the same prompt and thorough service which has accompanied our goods in the past.

Inquiries cordially welcome

We are receiving many orders from home-lovers for replacement of their present

KINGSTON, N. Y., JAN. 17, 1920.

With "Red" loafers assuming to represent labor no wonder the world falls short in production.

Rain in Yuma, Arizona, for the first time in 45 years must have caused greater excitement and wonder than even a flurry of snow in balmy Florida.

A Heidelberg professor announces that Germany "need not be ashamed of the defeat." True, but Germany needs to be ashamed of allowing her lust of conquest to plunge the world into the most destructive of wars.

Postponement of the age of long trousers would save millions of yards of cloth annually, according to the International Association of Clothing Designers. But would the saving on cloth more than offset the outlay on long stockings?

The Anti-Saloon League having decreed that no candidate with any suspicion of "dampness" about his person will be acceptable, it is plain enough that neither the governor of New York nor Elihu Root is wasting any time on Presidential aspiration.

Reckless spending that boosts prices is given an interesting illustration by Carol Wright, who tells in the Atlantic Monthly of seeing a shipyard laborer open his silk shirt and show his silk undershirt to the crowd, shouting: "I paid $18 for this and I am never going to wear anything worse."

Marshal Foch says he won the fight by smoking his pipe—presumably meaning that with the assistance of Lady Nicotine he made better plans than he would otherwise been capable of. If the plans of the Anti-Tobacco League bear fruit, the next generalissimo in the next great war will have no pipe to inspire him.

In the fiscal year 1919 the United States bought goods "made in Nippon" to the amount of $303,993,041, more than we ever bought in a single year from Germany or even from Great Britain. Japan will stand a good deal before she will sacrifice such a great and enormously expanding market by going to war with us.

The consumption of newspaper paper has reached the record breaking point, according to the Federal Trade Commission. It requires a tremendous amount of paper for the Democratic party to make country-wide distribution of explanations which do not explain. Close up the Administration publicity agencies and newspaper consumption would return to normal.

On the eve of the Jackson Day dinner—a dog-show for Democratic presidential aspirants—two more Americans were murdered in Mexico. But this was a matter of such insignificance to the would-be candidates as to call for no remark whatever. The Democratic party has effectively removed all game laws on Americans in Mexico. If cannibalism flourished in Mexico, Americans could be driven to the slaughter pens without probable protest from the party in the White House.

The administration favors a budget that would give the executive branch control. It is easy to see the reason why. The executive branch is always wanting more money and wants no restraint upon its expenditures. On the day Congress reconvened after the holidays, the Executive sent in eight requests for additional or supplemental appropriations, after having made its regular recommendations only a month before. Of what practical use would an executive budget be, if the administration persisted in its policy of sending to Congress frequent supplementary requests for additional appropriations?

A MESSAGE TO THE SOUTH.

With the opening of the present session of the 66th Congress, Senator George H. Jones, of New Hampshire, introduced a resolution providing for the appointment of a congressional committee to investigate the suppression of the electorate in various States of the Union, the idea behind this resolution being that if certain States of the Union are not accorded the right to vote they should not be counted in fixing the Congressional representation of the States which are thus violating the plain mandate of the Federal Constitution. It is a fact so well known to the majority of the people of this country as to require nothing more than official certification that in some of our States the negro is not permitted to vote at all while in others such obstacles are placed in the way of his exercise of the ballot as practically to nullify the 14th amendment. Yet these States count the negroes in when the question of representation comes up.

The Jackson Daily News, December 14th, says, apropos of the Moses resolution: "Insofar as the south is concerned we are willing to admit practically everything Senator Moses charges in his resolution. And we also dismiss the subject by asking, 'what in hell are you going to do about it?' This paper is published in Mississippi, the worst offender among the States which have strangled negro expression at the polls.

It is to be hoped that one of these days Congress will assert itself in this matter of acquiescing in what amounts to the embezzlement of power on the part of these offending States. Until Congress does so the taunt which the Jackson News flings at that body must be swallowed in silence, and the threat of sectional domination of the body politic will continue to hang over us.

WOULD REFORM NURSING PRACTICE

Bill At Albany Aims To Stop Practice of Exploiting Services of Those in Training—Provides For Licensed Trained Attendants and Correction of Abuse of Registered Nurses' Title.

(Contributed.)
A bill will be introduced this session of the legislature which has for its object the proper classification and licensing of nurses and provision for a group of trained attendants. To-day the public has little knowledge of the nursing service they are employing. They assume that if they pay $25 to $30 per week for a nurse, they are procuring a person who has had a complete training in a recognized hospital under the supervision of the regents of the University of the State of New York, and believe she is adequately prepared to care for the sick. This is not the case however, as there is no mandatory legislation controlling the care of the sick for any remuneration. At the present time in New York State there are several schools sending women out into the community to care for the sick as trained, graduate and certified nurses, who do not possess the qualifications which the public believe them to have, in fact a woman may practice as a graduate or trained nurse who has never spent a day in a hospital.

There are other schools which are connected with small hospitals of 15 or 20 beds, which have little but surgical work and after two or three years grant a diploma to the students which states that they are trained or graduate nurses. The young women go out into the community and may take care of any case of illness to which they are called. When the truth of the matter is they may never have observed a case of pneumonia, typhoid fever, or other medical condition. You will perhaps say that the doctor will take care of that. "He will see that I have a registered nurse," in a great many cities in the State of New York are maintained the so-called commercial registries. These are listed in the telephone book as registries for trained and under graduate nurses, masseuses, etc. A doctor in a large city like New York or Brooklyn who is not directly affiliated with a hospital may call upon a commercial institution to supply him with a trained nurse or else he will say to the family, "The patient is very ill and needs a trained nurse, will you call up a registry and get one as soon as possible?" What happens is that these commercial registries are simply money making institutions. They are run on a purely commission basis. If the charges are $25 to $30 per week the commission to the registry is increased. The greatest care is not always taken in looking up the credentials of these women. A person may say that she is a registered nurse when she is simply on Miss Brown's registry, and in no way prepared or recognized by the University of the State of New York. A registered nurse is simply a person with a title. There are certain schools in this state which are registered, controlled and inspected by the Regents. The graduates from these schools may take examinations given by the Regents for registered nurse if they choose but there is no mandatory legislation requiring it. In other words it is not necessary for persons caring for the sick to be in any way licensed as properly qualified to render their services to the community.

The people of the state of New York have licensed the doctor, the dentist, the veterinarian and the chiropractor and have taken no steps to license the nurse who is in closest contact with human life than any other person.

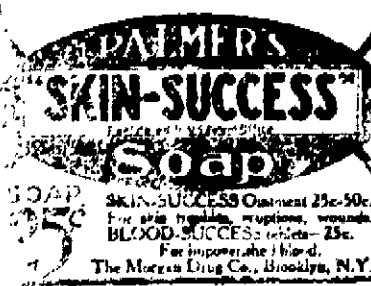

Isn't it about time that the public took this matter into their own hands and insisted upon the legislators of New York state putting a law on the statute books to prevent these unscrupulous persons from practicing unqualified to render their services, which is so vital to the health and life of the state?

What Shall We do with Our Babies?

Shall we bathe and wash their tender, sensitive skin with strong alkali soaps which will irritate and destroy that baby's freshness? Or shall we use that wonderfully delightful and therapeutic, aniseed scented, Palmer's SKIN-SUCCESS Soap, which is made especially to keep soft skin soft and to improve poor complexion?

Ask your dealer—He knows the answer.

that a nurse should be well trained or educated when she works under the orders of a doctor? Do you not realize that a doctor sees a patient from 5 to 15 minutes each day, while a nurse is at the bedside from 12 to 24 hours and that the care and observation of the acutely ill rests with the nurse. The doctor depends upon her to note any change, to report to him the condition and intelligently care for the patient until he arrives.

The bill provides for a trained attendant who should be a person with grammar school education, trained in an institution under the supervision of the regents of the University of the State of New York for at least nine months and shall be licensed to care for the sick as a trained attendant. This person is intended for the care of convalescent and chronic patients who do not need the care of a registered nurse. Also when it is necessary to employ two nurses for the care of one patient that one of these might be a trained attendant who would work under the direction and supervision of the registered nurse, thus lessening the expense to the family and not decreasing the quality of nursing care. This person is also needed in the public health field to assist the district nurse in the care of the sick poor. She would be adequately trained up to a certain point to carry out the routine procedure of practical nursing, to assist with the household duties and act as a homemaker during illness. The person could be hired for from $15 to $20 per week and the public would know the kind of person they were employing as she would be trained and licensed under the law to render them a definite service.

The bill is very broad in its interpretation, as it contains a clause which reads as follows: "Nothing contained herein shall prevent any person from engaging in nursing, provided, however, that he or she shall not assume the title of trained, certified, graduate or registered nurse or trained attendant without complying with the provisions of this article."

This prevents no one from caring for the sick but they must do so under the proper title and not masquerade as a trained or graduate or certified nurse when they have no qualifications to entitle them to practice as such.

It is necessary that the public take it upon themselves and insist upon this protection by the state and not make it possible to allow such conditions as at present exist because a few individuals with no interest in the service rendered to the community desire to continue the exploitation of young women for their own financial gain.

Any young woman who anticipates entering a training school should appreciate the difference between a registered and an unregistered school and make it her business to find out definitely the kind of a school she is going into. She is able to get this information by writing to the Inspector of Nurse Training Schools, Department of Education, University of the State of New York, at Albany, and ask for a list of those training schools for nurses which are under the regents of the state. In this way it will not be possible for her to get into a school which is simply exploiting her services in procuring cheap nursing care for their institution and in no way adequately preparing her to go out into the community as a well qualified nurse or as she is able to compete with the graduates from the registered schools.

There should be a law to control the training of nurses just as much as there is a law to control the training of medical students, pharmacists, dentists, veterinarians, etc., and the public has a right to know the kind of nursing service they are getting for and as the legislators at Albany are sent there by the people, the people should say that they want into law such legislation as this which has a vital and direct bearing upon the health of the community.

HOW TO COMPUTE INCOME TAX

These Married Men in 1919 Lucky
 Say: Director Hasbrouck—Tax
 Don't Affect Business or Property
 But Takes Toll On Income Only.

Newlyweds of the late part of 1919 ought to be regaled by the liberal exemptions under the Personal Income Tax law permitted by State Comptroller Travis," said J. DePuy Hasbrouck, district director, Kingston office, today.

Reduction of net income of real estate by the full $2,000 allowance made even though the marriage ceremony occurred in December. These passing the cigars as well, on the arrival of their first born during the year do not have to prorate their $200 exemption but receive it in full.

Briefly, a resident taxpayer receives exemption on the greatest amount to which he was entitled at any time during the year.

Where dependents have died during 1919, the resident taxpayer is privileged to set up the full $200 exemption or, if widower, the $2,000 claim as a married man.

Our district office has employees to facilitate the making out of returns under the law. Payment of the tax may be made either by certified or uncertified check, bank draft, express money order, or post office money order. Receipts are given in the case of cash payments, and also for checks, where requested. If the check is not honored, the receipt will be void and the taxpayer will be liable to penalties in collection charges.

"It should be understood," Mr. Hasbrouck continued, "that the income tax now being collected by the state, is not a tax on the farms, the workshops or the homes of the people, nor is it a levy on the savings which thrifty persons have deposited in banks or in securities. This tax is purely on net income received during the taxable year of 1919. This point may not have been brought home before, but it is evident that this tax is not assessed on the farm or store or business property, but on the income from these activities."

Mr. Hasbrouck suggested the following method of finding out the amount to pay:

First: Find the proper amount of wages or salaries earned; gains from profession, business or dealings in property, rents, interest and dividends, from any source during 1919. From this total leave out the value of gifts received, payments for injuries, military pay, receipts from life insurance policies at maturity, interest on federal, state and municipal bonds and other items shown in the law. Then you have gross income before you.

Against this amount you may set off business expenses, practically all of your interest on mortgages or other indebtedness as well as taxes paid except those for income and local assessments; losses not covered by insurance; bad debts; depreciation on buildings and machinery used in your business, and not more than 15% of your net income for contributions to charitable and religious organizations. Under no circumstances are personal living and family expenses allowed. This figure will produce net income.

A single person, or a married person not living with husband, or wife, having net income of $1,000 or more, must file a return. Married persons whose net income is $2,000 or more must likewise file a return. If a person is single although he is acting as the head of a family, he must file a return if his income is $1,000 or more, even though his exemption would make unnecessary the payment of a tax.

WILL HOLD AUTO SHOW IN MARCH

The automobile dealers of the city met Friday evening at the garage of Stryker & Youmans on Broadway for the purpose of organizing a permanent association of dealers in the city. The organization of dealers which held a very successful automobile show last year was a temporary one and the meeting Friday was to form a permanent association along the lines of the temporary one.

After a thorough discussion of the need of such an organization in the city the Automobile Dealers' Association of Kingston was formed. The following officers were elected: President, Henry A. Stryker; vice president, A. F. Molyneux; secretary, Charles Behrens; and treasurer, Louis Brown.

Matters of importance to the trade were discussed and the members decided that they would hold an automobile show during the latter part of March. The date has not been decided upon. A permanent meeting place will be designated where regular meetings of the association will be held. At a later meeting the plans for the automobile show will be discussed and plans completed.

The JOHN WANAMAKER February Sale of Furniture

Now going on

Is of far greater importance to the people than any Furniture Sale in our history

"Anybody who expects to need furniture during the next two or three years ought to get it now." So said an expert who is making an investigation of the lumber and furniture industries.

"Within the next five years," he said, "there will be 5,000 less lumber centers in the South—lumbered out—and 90,000 men less engaged in lumber getting."

"Today furniture manufacturers are almost entirely stripped of workable lumber, with far less than normal supplies to draw upon."

"One chair manufacturer was asked by a lumber concern to place an order. He gave an order equaling the reserve stock he used to keep on hand in the old days."

"Why, that's more lumber than I have," said the lumberman, "and I'll have to split it up among all my customers."

We foresaw the furniture shortage a year ago. And set out to make sure that it should not interfere with the February service the people expect of Wanamaker's. And WE SUCCEEDED.

Only a couple of months ago—

There came to us a totally unexpected offer involving almost half a million dollars.

the greatest single purchase in retail furniture history ever made by one firm.

The February Sale was sure.

The buyer was to pay cash and move the goods. The price was lower than obtained on furniture of equal grade for fifteen months.

We examined the furniture. Found it to be OUR kind. Paid cash for it. Crated it all. Trucked it to the railroad—more than 470 tons of furniture, in more than 7,000 crates and packages, requiring more than 120 cars to bring it to New York—

Choose now, and take now, if you want. Choose now, and take after February 1st, if you prefer.

More than $1,000,000 of Furniture

At genuine savings of 10 to 33 per cent.

What we have set down above about furniture conditions we have set down because we felt it our duty so to do. We are not primarily SELLERS of goods. We are engaged in the very serious business of supplying the people's needs. Any information we get about goods the people need is at the service of the people for their enlightenment, to be acted upon as and when each one sees fit.

EVERY PIECE of home furniture in the Wanamaker Galleries—with the exception of the antique and special order furniture in the Galerie Bohemienne and An Quatrieme—is included in the Sale, at a reduction in price.

NO FURNITURE SOLD TO DEALERS.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, Jan. 16.—Several of the women met at the parsonage Wednesday to quilt.
 The ice houses are nearly all filled in this section and there is six inches start on a new crop. Somewhat different from last year, when some falling to harvest any ice at all. The city employees, under the direction of Mr. Lewis, cut ice on the reservoir. The water is so low that they went out nearly to the old site of Chauncey Toss's home to cut.
 Sixty-six years ago, January 17, the veterans of the War of 1812 met at A. P. Hill's to see about their pension money.
 Neil Windram and George Dibbell are in Newark, N. J., working on the shipyard.

 Several of our farmers are getting out their tim for the railroad.
 For the benefit of tourists we might state that the aeration basin is not working these days but will probably be on the job again by pickered fishing time.
 Two of our war veterans, George Hogan and Emory Perouse, are helping tear down the old Hudson River Pulp Mill at Winchell's Falls. Thus passes what was once a thriving industry in the town. Tanneries, bluestone quarries and docks, saw mills and so on have gone, leaving not a single productive plant hereabouts.

Protect Your Pipes and Your Pocketbook

We need it's protection to keep your body warm. Keeping yourself warm is essential in the best way, heat which the body generates. The more effectively this is done, the more comfortable you are on a cold day.

An uncovered heating pipe is no different than the human body. Unless it is protected by a topcoat, the heat which it should contain is lost. Comfort in your home or building is chilled. Cold rooms are the result.

T. E. D. Pipe Covering is cheaper than coal and lasts indefinitely.

COWNS THAT WIN FAVOR IN PARIS

Models Must Be Simple and Without Any Unbecoming or Bizarre Effects.

STRAIGHT LINES HAVE CALL

Paradise Too Fond of Personal Appearance to Go in for Anything That is Grotesque—For Girl Popular.

From present indications, writes a leading fashion correspondent, the Parisienne is not going to adopt any of the fantastic features that appeared in earlier models. She is accepting, however, in a very marked way, certain of the models which have distinct features without any unbecoming or bizarre silhouette.

The Parisienne is too fond of her own personal appearance to go in for anything that is grotesque. She has seen too many good clothes and has too much personal taste and refinement in dress to go contrary to judgment. Thus we find that out of the earlier showings, which carried all kinds of extraordinary hip extensions and queer girdings, loops and draperies, the chic Parisienne has chosen straight lines, simple waistline beltings, soft colors and the natural silhouette.

This will come as no surprise to those who are close students of fashion in women's dress. Only the extremists were enthusiastic about the marked hip extensions and the complicated draperies.

Czech-Slavic Idea Proves Success.

As prophesied, the Lanvin models in the Czech-Slavic feeling have proved a success. While these dresses are of marked type, they are not bizarre in any way. In fact, they are most refined looking, with delicate thread embroidery in black on white or stone color. The best dressed women in Paris are wearing these gowns, which are of a straight chemise-like cut, but tightly girdled at the waistline with a string tie of the same material, which seemingly is drawn in as tightly as possible around the figure. This gives the appearance of being practically uncorrected, the stomach and hips bulging in a natural manner.

While the fashions of Jugo-Slav origin were thought by some to be extreme, they really were not. Probably the most remarkable feature about them is the great number of ideas which they embody.

Has Trouserlike Effect.

An example of how a costume that is simple and beautiful has been worked out from the long-coat garment with trouserlike undershirt, which was one of the most conspicuous notes in the Jugo-Slav collection, is a Lanvin model. It was she who first introduced this type of dress.

It is developed in pale castor color and velours de laine, the bottom, head, which takes the place of the trouser undershirt, being black broadcloth and the collar of fisher fur, or pique, as it is called in France. The

The influence of the Jugo-Slav is quite apparent in the model sketched above, developed in castor-colored velours de laine. A tight broadcloth undershirt gives a trouserlike effect.

Contrast in black, with the exception of a touch of red around the neckline, the previous fashion of having a broad pocket for the watch and wearing the watch on a fob. Some have a little jeweled ornament hanging from the end of the ribbon.

Another of Lanvin's very popular dresses has just come from Paris. It is a simple dress of the type in which a woman will appear both well dressed and that will appear to be in the height of the mode for some time to come. This is desirable in these days of expensive fabrics, for even if we make our own dresses we feel that we must use cloth sparingly until there is some justification of price. Then it is a nice thing to have a dress such as this in one's wardrobe, because it fits so many needs. One may shop in it in the early morning hours, walk in the afternoon or stop for tea among the most smartly dressed women and still feel comfortably and suitably dressed.

Cost of Blue Velours.
Lanvin makes such a coat of very dark blue wool velours. It has a faring collar of astrakhan, the same fur forming an edge down the entire front of the coat and making deep gauntlet cuffs. While this wrap is very simple it is of the type worn over dressy afternoon costumes, as well as a matching coat for the outdoor velours or duvety dresses. It is smart to have one of these long coats exactly matching the frock.

Coats as well as dresses are drawn in tightly about the waistline to accentuate the natural lines of the figure. The one of wool velours above has a collar, gauntlet cuffs and edging down the front of astrakhan.

Paris makes a great feature of very heavy wool embroidery done in a loop stitch, like tapestry. This is sometimes sheared to form little square tufts which stand away from the surface of the fabric a quarter of an inch deep. Sometimes a part of the pattern is clipped and the rest left in a tight loop. All patterns are geometrical and form deep, thick-looking borders on coats, collars and cuffs. To some degree this embroidery resembles a fur. It is almost overdone by Premet, as she uses it on so many models. The idea, however, is interesting and new.

Monkey Fur Still Popular.

Despite its great use last winter, monkey fur continues to be popular. It is very expensive when used in any quantity. As a garniture for dresses and suits it is not considered really smart unless used in the form of deep borders and enveloping collars. Lanvin has a delightful little dress with a deep border of jet black monkey fur at the bottom of the skirt. One of the most successful models from Madeleine is a coat of pearl gray checked in black and trimmed with a wide skirt band and a collar and cuffs of monkey fur. This coat is worn over a black velvet one-piece dress.

As to fur trimmings there is almost no tailored suit that has not fur trimming of some kind. The one-piece tailored dresses, or robe manteaux, are also heavily fur trimmed.

One thing especially to be remarked is the little use of the muff. Possibly the mousetype type of wrap has made the muff unnecessary, as the wearer folds the mantle around her and holds it in place; thus it would be very awkward to carry a muff.

ODDS AND ENDS

Belts are simplified.
"Poussin green" is a favorite color.
Feather dresses are much in vogue.
Afternoon gowns show huge revers.
Belts are narrow and sometimes wrap the figure twice.

Suit coats are lined with bright printed tulle.

Cherry red and pearl gray are favored colors in the millinery world.

A general use of plaiting is noticeable in many of the new frocks.

Chevron revers of beige and navy will be used for mothers sport wear.

Some suit blouses are of high colored silk, trimmed with the suit cloth.

Many tailored blouses for spring will be of plaid and striped cotton prints.

Acetate-plaid insertions may be used to give the prevailing side fullness.

Boundless Capes.

Judging from the designer's fashion notes, there are to be no good easy coats with detachable capes. Something a little firmer is to be part of a cloth coat—a detachable part that may be put on and taken off the coat

BOBBY AND THE H. C. L.

By JANE OSBORN

(© 1935, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

"Go as far as you like," quoth Bobby to his young wife, Lucille, with that peculiar brand of satisfaction written on his face that comes to a man who feels he has been extremely liberal. "Just so long as it is a bang-up dinner. I'm not going to consider any reasonable cost. Here, Lucille," he said, drawing forth a crisp ten-dollar bill from his bill case, "here is something. Spend the whole of it if you want—terrapin, oyster, green turtle, lobster—whatever they have at the nifty dinner."

"And there are to be eight of us," Lucille's words betokened weariness, but it was a weariness that Bobby, the exuberant young Bobby, failed to detect.

"Yes," he agreed, "you and me and my brother John and his wife and your brother John and his wife and the Bob Newtons—just a jolly party. I'll be home by six, so as to do anything I can for you at the last minute. I suppose you'll get Sally to wear a cap and apron." And away went Bobby, filled with pleasurable anticipation of his first dinner party.

It had been settled between the Bobby Stranges when they were married that they would run no bills during the first years of their married life. Bobby was convinced that every housewife should go marketing personally, taking advantage of the better prices that were offered to those who paid cash, and Lucille had agreed perfectly. And Bobby Strange did not mean to be perfunctory.

But the trouble was that Bobby had been rather overdone on a certain brand of magazine article that urged young men to save. It was his theory that if a young man earned sixty dollars a week he should save at least fifteen. He felt that he was generous when he allowed Lucille thirty-five on which to run the house.

When Lucille complained meekly and good-naturedly that butcher bills were amazingly high Bobby snailingly quoted some articles he had read about using the cheaper cuts, but unfortunately Bobby had a taste for chops and steaks and could not enquire stew. "Oh, there are other things you can get," he assured her. "I can't remember just what they call them. But you'll find it all in the books."

So when Bobby Strange left that morning Lucille sat looking at the ten-dollar bill. She ran a finger over its verdant face affectionately. There were so many things that it would do. They needed potatoes, and only the day before Lucille had found a place where she could buy eggs at a splendid price.

She had hoped to be able to get some to "put down" for winter. They were out of soap and it was so much cheaper buying it in large quantities. But this ten dollars was not for soap or eggs or potatoes. It was for terrapin and green turtle.

Lucille started out early to shop, and she spent hours in her search for the inexpensive luxuries that she had hoped for. But they were not to be had. Why, even ordinary barnyard fowl were fifty cents a pound. Frequently as she marketed she consulted the little menu that she had made out for the dinner that night, and frequently she ran her little silver pencil through certain dainties she had planned to have.

It was not alone a physical fatigue that weighed her down when she returned from the marketing trip.

"You'll wear a cap and apron, won't you, Sally?" she asked when she came home.

"I suppose so, ma'am," replied Sally. "If you get one for me. You couldn't expect me to have them for myself."

Lucille had to take the cork out of the bottom of the china elephant bank in which she had been saving nickels with which to buy a washing machine. Then she went out to search of the white cap and apron that she could buy with the small amount that the elephant presented her with.

The dinner seemed to be successful enough, but something must have passed between the Bobby Stranges afterward that took a little of the felicity out of Lucille. For when her brother John arrived unexpectedly the next morning at about nine after Bobby had started off for his office he found his sister in tears.

He had trouble in tracing these tears to their source, for Lucille knew that John was an unwavering friend and champion of her Bobby. If he had not been she never would have explained to him.

"After you had all gone," she explained, "he said to me that I couldn't have been so thrifty. He said he thought I was the best housewife he knew of for the dinner—in fact, he said he had rather hoped we would have something a little better than chicken and—"

Lucille's tears seemed to start almost at the words of the little dinner party; she sobbed like a child before she went on—"and stringbeans (red), and tomato salad (red) and ice cream and—and chocolate cake." And with the mention of the cake she had spent so much pains in making the house into a haven of peace and plenty and subbed on her brother's shoulder as she had done in long days when she had comforted her over the death of a cousin or the breaking of a doll.

"And I spent every cent he gave me," Lucille went on when she had released her companion. "There wasn't a cent left and I had to take the cork out of the elephant. I told him so, and then he said that it was all because I didn't know how to buy. He said that that was my great fault—not knowing how to buy, and he said that there were some women who could manage on a lot less money than I did and have more delicious food. He was very kind, only he really thinks I don't know. But honestly John, I went to the cheapest place in town and carried all the bundles home myself, so I wouldn't have to go to places that I don't like."

"Well, I guess Bobby just don't understand," reflected the loyal John. "Bobby's young—not much older than you—and there are a lot of things you youngsters have to learn. Perhaps I can teach him."

"Oh, please don't, please don't," entreated Lucille. "Don't even mention the H. C. L. because if you do then Bobby will know that I have been talking about him to you, and that would be dreadful." John promised secrecy, but he went away secretly promising himself that he would educate Bobby.

Weeks passed and the slight disappointment that Bobby had sustained regarding the dinner party was well-nigh forgotten. Little was said concerning the question of food costs, except that Bobby once or twice referred to Lucille's general ignorance concerning the rudiments of buying. He had decided to be magnanimous and not reproach her, but he would occasionally tease her about it.

Then stormclouds began to gather. Bobby was away from home two nights one week and three the next. He was preoccupied and seemed to be distraught. Rather reluctantly, when Lucille asked him where he went, he told her that he was at the club. Then Lucille recalled the little gift they had had concerning the H. C. L., and she was troubled indeed. Women had lost their husbands' affections before, she told herself, because they had been bad housekeepers. She had decided to take her troubles to John—John who always stood up so loyally for Bobby.

"Then one night when Bobby did come home the conversation went like this:

"Lucille, how much are you paying for butter?"

"Sixty-five cents," said Lucille. "I thought so, and you can't get decent coffee for less than forty cents, can you?"

"Why, no?"

"That's what I'm telling them. But these old folks—I guess they haven't been in a market or provision store for years. They don't know—how can they know? Why, food prices have doubled in two years," Bobby was waxing eloquent. "Doubled, I tell you. And tomorrow night at the meeting of the club I'm going to sail into that house committee and give them what's coming to them. It can't be done, gentlemen, it can't be done." Bobby had risen from his place at the table and was addressing the imaginary club in meeting assembled.

Lucille didn't know exactly what had come over her beloved Bobby, but she felt, as if suddenly a millstone had dropped from her shoulders. But Bobby explained.

"You see your brother John—well, I suppose he realized that I had a bit more business ability than the other fellows in the club. Anyway, he appointed me a committee of one to act as a sort of honorary steward—to see to the buying—sort of jack up the chef who has usually had full charge. Some of the members had been complaining that for a dollar he ought to be able to give us a better dinner. But I went into the matter systematically, as I always do, and believe me, it can't be done. If those old fossils think it can, they'd better try. Why, one of the members of the house committee had the audacity to tell me that I didn't know how to buy."

"You dear Bobby," sympathized Lucille. "Wasn't that hateful?" And then as a look of happiness settled over her pretty fair features: "When did brother John ask you to take charge?" she asked.

"It was the day after our little dinner party—and say, Lucille, since I've been looking into this matter I'll have to confess I don't see how you got that dinner up on that measly ten dollars. It's been a revelation to me. I'll say."

A Wonderful Goer.

"Like a H. C. L.," said a countryman, civilly, as he overtook a footman traveler on the dusty road. As they jogged along they chatted about all sorts of things. Presently the old chap pulled out a patch of the turnip variety. "Can we tell the taste, sir?" he asked.

"Certainly. It is exactly three o'clock," replied the other as he watched the driver set his watch at twelve. Then he stopped him. "I said three o'clock, not twelve," he added.

"Oh, that's all right, sir," said the courier, as he slipped his impetuous into his pocket. "He'll soon make that up. He's a wonderful goer!"—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Divorce in the United States.

The latest report of the United States national census bureau shows more divorces not only an increase in the ratio of divorce to marriage, but in the ratio of divorce to growth of population—112 divorces to every 100,000 people in 1930, as against 84 in 1920 and 72 in 1910. There were 112,000 divorces granted in 1930, compared with 70,700 of which there are exact statistics; of these 30,000, more than a third, more for desertion, with cruelty second, the two combined accounting for nearly two-thirds (65 per cent) of all the divorces granted in that year, satisfactory figures for the United States, satisfactory figures for the world.

HOW DEER FOR "BOY" MAN IN BEGINNING LIFE.

In "As You Like It," Shakespeare, speaking through Jacques, tells of the "seven ages of man." Of course, says the Ohio State Journal, the category is complete and truthful, but we think that more modern times have suggested an eighth age, that might be inserted between the whining schoolboy and the soldier, boarded like a pard, and that in the "Age of the Soft Soap," when the whole of the life is to get as much as possible for nothing. A boy generally reaches that stage when he is just out of school, with a smattering of Latin and algebra and imagines that the world owes him a living, and all he has to do is to pick it off when the world springs around him. Nothing will do him but a soft soap, an easy job, with big pay and infinite leisure for society, with motor rides and dressing for dinner. There are many such young men, or rather boys, just stepping on the stage of life, to whom the soft soap seems to be the blossom of their years. They spend the beauty and strength of their lives trying to get hold of it. How many a noble youth is utterly spoiled by waiting for a soft soap; and the longer they wait, the less fitted they are for any kind of real business. They are today the chief apostles of the high cost of living and are looked upon as such by the people. No person can be a soft snapper if he possesses any real pride. He will take the first work that comes to hand and depend upon his merit and worth for his promotion and success. And how to the sweet damsel, let us say a word—steer clear of the snappers, until they show some disposition to work out their own salvation.

How China Is Advancing.

The new woman has appeared in China. She believes she has an individuality, a personality, a soul, just as indubitably as has man, contrary to the teachings of Buddhism and other native religions. Polygamy she has not yet conquered—perhaps many of them have no interest in the perishing of that old custom—but those who have embraced Christianity are fighting against that evil among the many others which have fettered and bound the women of China for untold generations.

Woman has been the slave or the toy of man, her life one ceaseless round of obedience, first to her father then to her husband and finally, if widowed, to her son. The first lesson that worked among the old slaves of women in China was put there by the early Christian missionaries. That lesson has worked until now the dough, so to speak, of the new womanhood is overflowing the bowls of tradition and oppression.

How Hun U-Boats Were Discouraged.

Two German submarines cut the cable between this country and England just outside New York harbor in the spring of 1918 but the break was spilt by a small corps of experts within 12 hours.

This fact was made known for the first time by Col. J. J. Carr, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, in an address at a luncheon of the New York Electrical League.

A cable extending from New York to South America was cut at the same time and was repaired as quickly. According to Colonel Carr, Germany evidently was discouraged by her failure to interrupt communications and the exploit never was repeated.

Royal Arctic Region Is Patrolled.

Royal northwest mounted police, the noted Canadian force that patrols western Canada, last summer established a station at the mouth of the Coppermine river, which flows into the Arctic ocean 350 miles east of the mouth of the Mackenzie river, according to word brought to Seattle from the north.

The new Coppermine station is the "farthest eastern" station of the western Arctic posts of the police. The new post will work with the station at Herschel Island, near the mouth of the Mackenzie, and also with the post on the east at Baker's lake, on the Hudson bay side of the Arctic region.

FINE POULTRY RECORD MADE

Satisfactory Results Reported From Number of Co-operative Shipments in Arkansas.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The Polk county (Ark.) agricultural agent and home demonstration agent report satisfactory results from a number of co-operative shipments of chickens marketed by farm women during the early summer. Shippers listed their poultry in the same manner as is employed where hogs or cattle are shipped co-operatively, using Monday as shipping day. All the poultry was shipped by express from 60 to 200 miles to the Memphis and St. Louis markets.

A total of 1,575 pounds of poultry was loaded at the shipping point in July; the total weight at destination was 1,411 pounds, the aggregate shrinkage in transit amounting to 162 pounds, or an average of 10.3 per cent. The cost of marketing, including express, commissions, coop expenses, etc., but not inclusive of shrinkage, was 4.4 cents a pound, while the cost of marketing a pound, including the drift over the railroad was: Hens, 7.5 cents; cocks, 6.3 cents; and springers, 8.5 cents.

The total gross sales amounted to $423.07, which left a net return to the shippers of $352.96 after the shipping expenses of $68.71 were deducted. The market value of this entire shipment on the local market was only $268.00, so that the net gain through co-operative marketing aggregated $89.47, or a total of 34 per cent. Twenty-one shippers participated.

PAYS TO BANISH LOAFER HEN

In Recent Culling Campaign in Indiana 345 Out of 1,222 Fowls Were Discarded.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The Bartholomew county (Ind.) agricultural agent reports that a total of 1,222 hens were handled in a recent culling campaign and of this number 345, or 28 per cent, were discarded as poor layers. The entire number of hens, 1,222, laid 2,368 eggs the week before culling, while the week after they had been culled the 877 fowls left on the farms laid 2,292 eggs. This explains why it was expedient management to rid the flocks of the 345

How Hand Reveals Character.

The human hand, like the eyes, has a language of its own and can be made an interesting study. The lines in the palm deal solely with palmistry, but there is still another method of character reading found in the shape of the hand, and in this instance thought may be centered at first upon the fingers.

Long fingers denote perseverance and ambition, while extremely short ones indicate the habits of laziness and indifference. Those coming under the head of medium in length lay claim to vanity. The type thick at the base of the hand and which tapers to a narrow point at the finger tip usually belongs to a selfish and unforgiving individual, contrary to the person possessing flat finger tips, wherein a stubborn nature and strong will is connoted.

Why Bright Colors Are Popular.

There is a craze for sunshine colors in home furnishing and decoration now. The drab years have passed, says the continental edition of the London Mail, and with them have gone the taste for grays and fawns. Rooms now glow with happier tints. A firm which guides or interprets much of the most beautiful and a good deal of the most extravagant schemes of interior decoration has been lighting up the walls and windows, the carpets and the chairs of towns and country mansions with blue, purple and orange, jade, green and "flame," the last perhaps the newest color for faded rooms.

Why More Railroads Are Needed.

Despite a border line of some 300 kilometers between France and Italy, the frontier is crossed by but two railroads, at Bodone and at Vincimille. Yet on both sides of the frontier are situated rich regions whose industrial activity could be augmented by proper railroad facilities. It is now planned by chambers of commerce representing both countries to remedy this defect. Various projects have been advanced and a certain number of them will shortly be put into execution.

Why There Are Nonstop Performances.

Wild things would disappear if we fixed the perimeters of the vegetation to suit our own desires. The things we call perimeters are quite as important in the world as the things we have learned to love and enjoy. Something everywhere, is attracted or repelled by every odor that we encounter out of doors, and the old world vegetation on its hills because it is so well arranged for the creatures that inhabit it.—George F. Barker in Outlook's Literature.

MATCHING FAST ONES FOR FIGHT

Kingston Athletic Club to Have Star Boxing Card on January 20—Two Ten Round Bout, and a Six Round Preliminary.

In addition to the star ten round bout between Vincent Coffey of this city, and Willie Chrystal of Newburgh for the lightweight championship of the Hudson river valley, the Kingston Athletic Club is trying to match Sapper Cohen and Bert Spencer for another ten round bout, which, with a six round preliminary will make up the fastest card ever offered Kingston boxing fans.

Sapper Cohen has been seen in action here, and is a fast man. Bert Spencer is another good man, and recently got a newspaper decision over Willie Chrystal in a ten round go at Poughkeepsie. This should prove a real fight.

Coffey, who recently underwent a slight operation on his nose, will be in first class shape for the next bout, and Chrystal is said to be in fine shape also. Those who have seen the two in action are of conflicting opinions as to which is the better man. The present bout should decide the question.

The two other fighters who will be appear will be announced later. Tickets for the bout Thursday evening, January 29, at Griffith's Hall may now be obtained of the club members, or from Edward Cashin at his store on the Strand.
